A students' recital will be given next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Schellischmidt music studio.

The Indianapolis Mandolin Orchestra will hold rehearsal on Monday nights in the assembly hall of the Shortridge High School. Guitar and mandolin players generally are invited to attend to-morrow night's rehearsal.

The community music seems about to be attacked by "Prohmanism," from which the drama is suffering. Daniel Frohman is managing the business affairs of Jan Kubelick, the young Hungarian violinist, who is now playing in New York. In a newspaper interview, he says that he is a "Prohman," and that he is a "Prohman" because he is a "Prohman." The criticisms of Kubelick's recitals give him credit for a pure tone and marvelous technique, but add that he shows little appreciation of emotion and at this stage of his career can only be regarded as a "Prohman." His audiences in New York have been large and he will take a great deal of money with him when he returns to Europe in the spring.

HOMES FOR THE AGED.

A Proper and Well-Defined Field for Such Institutions.

Rev. T. A. Hendrick.
The private home for the aged should not be a private porchouse. Its field of work is essentially different from that which provides for the housing and care of paupers.

The buildings necessary should be such as will be nearly as possible make real to the inmates the home which is their ideal and which, perhaps, they once possessed. Every inmate should have a separate room, sacred to him or her alone and secure against invasion or intrusion beyond what is necessary for cleanliness and the common good of all. In these rooms the idea of the institution should, if possible, be kept out of sight, and the idea of individual and characteristic ownership should be made most prominent. In case a husband and wife chose such a dwelling place, the home should be encouraged to industry, the form being left largely to themselves, but daily effort being, as far as possible, demanded.

The buildings should be, if possible, built on the cottage plan and having not more than one floor above the ground for living purposes. There should be a separate building for the hospital for the chronic or temporary sick, that their weakness and infirmities may not be a cause of discomfort to the others. There should be a community room, to which all may resort, if they choose, for readings, recitations and other forms of parlor entertainment. The dining room should be furnished with tables to accommodate not more than twelve each, and the fare should be abundant.

It will be seen from the idea of a home for the aged that is here presented that it excludes such a condition as a hospital, to be treated in mass. So far as a correct idea may be given, though we may not strictly carry out the idea of a home, we may call it, perhaps more correctly, a hotel for the aged. It is not primarily a charitable institution, for it is not a charity, and it is not a money-making venture, but rather a well-ordered contribution on the part of the sympathetic well-wisher toward his fellow-men.

The means of support for each member of such a home should be a minimum sum, say, for example, $300, or $400, or $500, or $600, or $700, or $800, or $900, or $1,000, or $1,100, or $1,200, or $1,300, or $1,400, or $1,500, or $1,600, or $1,700, or $1,800, or $1,900, or $2,000, or $2,100, or $2,200, or $2,300, or $2,400, or $2,500, or $2,600, or $2,700, or $2,800, or $2,900,
